FINDINGS, CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATION OF THE UNITED STATES MAGISTRATE JUDGE

Pursuant to the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 636(b) and an Order of the Court, this case has been referred for findings, conclusions, and recommendation.

I. BACKGROUND

Petitioner, an inmate currently incarcerated in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice - Correctional Institutions Division (TDCJ-CID), filed a petition for writ of habeas corpus pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254. The respondent is Rick Thaler, Director of TDCJ-CID.

Petitioner was convicted of burglary of a habitation and was sentenced to life imprisonment in Cause No.F88-92579-I. (Petition (Pet.) at 2). His conviction and sentence were affirmed on appeal. Id. at 3. He first challenged his burglary conviction in federal court by way of a § 2254 petition filed on March 12, 2001; it was dismissed with prejudice as being barred by the statute of limitations. See Johnson v. Johnson, 3:01-cv-483-H (N.D. Tex. June 25, 2001). His second federal habeas petition, filed on July 22, 2002, was transferred to the Fifth Circuit for authorization to file a successive petition. See Johnson v. Dretke, 3:02-cv-1557-P (N.D. Tex. May 23, 2004). Because petitioner has previously challenged his conviction, the Court must determine whether this petition is a second or successive application within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 2244(b).

II. SECOND OR SUCCESSIVE APPLICATION

The Antiterrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act of 1996, Pub. L. 104-132, 110 Stat. 1214 (AEDPA) limits the circumstances under which a state prisoner may file a second or successive application for habeas relief in federal court. See 28 U.S.C. § 2244 (b). Under Fifth Circuit precedent, “a later petition is successive when it: 1) raises a claim challenging the petitioner’s conviction or sentence that was or could have been raised in an earlier petition; or 2) otherwise constitutes an abuse of the writ.” Crone v. Cockrell, 324 F.3d 833, 836-37 (5th Cir. 2003); accord United States v. Orozco-Ramirez, 211 F.3d 862, 867 (5th Cir. 2000).¹ A petition that is literally second or successive, however, is not a second or successive application for purposes of AEDPA if the prior dismissal is based on prematurity or lack of exhaustion. See Slack v. McDaniel, 529 U.S. 473, 487 (2000) (declining to construe an application as second or successive when it followed a previous dismissal due to a failure to exhaust state remedies); Stewart v. Martinez-Villareal, 523 U.S. 637, 643-46 (1998) (declining to construe an application as second or successive when it followed a previous dismissal due to prematurity, and noting the similarities of such dismissal to one based upon a failure to exhaust state remedies). “To hold otherwise would mean that a dismissal of a first habeas petition for technical procedural reasons would bar the prisoner from ever obtaining federal habeas review.” 523 U.S. at 645.

In this case, petitioner’s prior petitions were not dismissed because of any prematurity or lack of exhaustion. Under Orozco-Ramirez and Crone, petitioner was therefore required to present all available claims in his 2001 federal petition.

“The requirement that all available claims be presented in a prisoner’s first habeas petition is consistent not only with the spirit of AEDPA’s restrictions on second and successive habeas petitions, but also with the preexisting abuse of the writ principle. The requirement serves the singularly salutary purpose of forcing federal habeas petitioners to think through all potential post-conviction claims and to consolidate them for a unitary presentation to the district court.”

Orozco-Ramirez, 211 F.3d at 870-71 (quoting Pratt v. United States, 129 F.3d 54, 61 (1st Cir. 1997)). Because the petition raises claims that petitioner raised or could have raised in his 2001 petition, it is successive within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 2244(b).

When a petition is second or successive, the petitioner must seek an order from the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals that authorizes this Court to consider the petition. See 28 U.S.C. § 2244(b)(3)(A). The Fifth Circuit “may authorize the filing of a second or successive application only if it determines that the application makes a prima facie showing that the application satisfies the requirements of [§ 2244(b)].” Id. § 2244(b)(3)(C). The application must show that it is based on: (1) newly discovered evidence that, if proven and viewed in light of the evidence as a whole, would be sufficient to establish by clear and convincing evidence that no reasonable factfinder would have found him guilty of the offense; or (2) a new rule of constitutional law, made retroactive to cases on collateral review by the Supreme Court, that was previously unavailable. Id. § 2244(b)(2).

Petitioner contends that he did not raise his current claims in his previous federal habeas petition because he has only recently become aware of the factual basis for the claims. (Pet. at 7). He has not, however, obtained an order from the Fifth Circuit authorizing this Court to consider this successive application for habeas relief, and it may not do so.

III. RECOMMENDATION

The petition for writ of habeas corpus filed pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254 should be TRANSFERRED to the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit pursuant to Henderson v. Haro, 282 F.3d 862, 864 (5th Cir. 2002) and In re Epps, 127 F.3d 364, 365 (5th Cir. 1997). Petitioner should also be ADMONISHED that he may be subject to sanctions should he continue to argue claims concerning this same conviction in this Court without first seeking and receiving authorization from the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals to file a successive petition.

SIGNED this 26th day of June, 2010.
